PROJECT AIM:

We are looking to work with people who identify as choreographers or choreographers/dancers who are interested in developing methods for working within a site-specific context, excited about experimenting with space and with movement in new ways, and who have credentials and a strong creative vision as artists and individuals.

Participants will work with Tom Pearson and Zach Morris of Third Rail Projects, New York to learn the skills and methods of creating site-specific choreography and will also be expected to participate in each other's work as performers in order to experience both sides of this creative process.

TIME COMMITMENT:

Programme will take place from Mon 19th to Fri 23rd April with a sharing performance and video shoot on Sat 24th April. Selected participants are required to conduct a Teachers Workshop upon project completion. A certificate of completion will only be presented to those who committed all the required dates.
